

Dianne Deaton Vielhuber

Pastor, Author & Speaker

Dianne Deaton Vielhuber brings deep compassion and experience to those navigating the grief journey. As an ordained pastor, writer, speaker, volunteer, wife, grandmother, sibling, and friend, she meets people in their suffering with empathy shaped by her own life experiences. Raised on a small Wisconsin dairy farm, Dianne earned a Bachelor of Science in Agricultural Journalism from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Her career includes agricultural communications, marketing and teaching university-level English overseas as a missionary. She earned a Master of Divinity from the University of Dubuque Theological Seminary and served five Wisconsin United Methodist Churches over two decades. Hubby Rick and Dianne have six grandchildren and Rick's adult children. The heart of her work is a passion for helping people connect God in their normal, everyday lives.

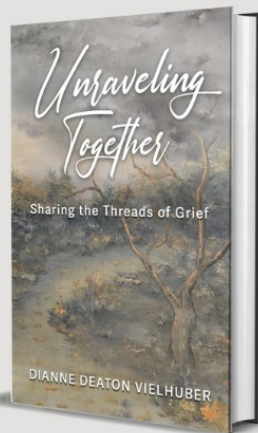

PUBLICATIONS

Unraveling Together
self-published, 2025

A compassionate companion for anyone walking through grief.

Whether you're grieving a loved one, a dream or a life you thought you'd have, this book offers both comfort and gentle encouragement to take the next step in your grief journey.

TALK TOPICS

- Grief shows up in many different areas of our lives.
- Grief is not meant to be carried alone.
- Pain and joy can exist side by side.
- God meets us in our pain and weaves threads of healing into our story.

SELECT QUOTES

- "There is no need to be brave and strong. Just be present."
- "For when you hurt, Jesus hurts. When you cry, Jesus cries. When you love someone, Jesus loves them."
- "Sometimes we lose sight of how special it is to be alive and how precious each moment is."

CONNECT

www.simplewordsofffaith.com

sharingthethreadsofgrief@gmail.com

facebook.com/simplewordsofffaith

@DianneDeatonVielhuber